Capital Square, a national investment sponsor specializing in tax-advantaged real estate, has appointed Natalie Martirosian Mason senior vice president of development.

Mason brings 13 years of real estate experience to her role at Capital Square, with a majority of those years spent overseeing development projects in San Francisco. Prior to joining the firm, she was senior director at Tishman Speyer, where she oversaw the financing, construction, delivery and sale of more than 1,200 residential units.

Before Tishman Speyer, Mason spent time as project manager for the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development for the Government of the District of Columbia.

“Capital Square is thrilled that Natalie Mason has joined the firm’s development team,” said Louis Rogers, founder and chief executive officer of Capital Square. “Natalie brings a high level of development expertise and a strong work ethic to the team. With Natalie on board, Capital Square will continue to grow and prosper from the development business in qualified opportunity zones and elsewhere.”

Mason graduated from Princeton University with a bachelor’s degree, with honors, in Slavic languages and literatures with a certificate in Russian studies. She earned an MBA from The Wharton School with a focus on real estate as well as a Master of International Studies degree with a focus on Russian from the Lauder Institute of Management & International Studies at the University of Pennsylvania.
